Repent, Believe, Be Fishers of Men

Unlike Matthew and Luke, Mark shortens the account of Jesus' temptation, but he adds a bit about wild beasts being with him. He then moves to the arrest of John the Baptist and Jesus' preaching in Galilee. His message is a simple one, "The time has come. Repent. The kingdom, the reign of God, is at hand." He concludes with a simple appeal for repentance and faith in the gospel, the good news.

Mark then records Jesus' call of the first four of his disciples, all fishermen, two sets of brothers, Peter and Andrew, and James and John. He again has a simple appeal, "Follow Me, and I will make you fishers of men.

We learn from John's gospel that this was not the first time he had met these men. They all had likely been disciples of John, had met Jesus, and had heard him preach. It was not quite as abrupt as one might assume if he had read only Mark.

The call to repent, to believe the gospel, and to be fishers of men is one that goes out to us today as well.

Lord, grant us the courage to be your disciples and to share the gospel with our world.

Dr. Michael Moss
