The Last Enemy to be Destroyed

by Doug Kashorek

Powerless against death and often seeing the terrible ravages of aging, disease, or accidents, we, as human beings, fear the unknown and push far from us our inevitable succumbing to it—at least until this time of year. The more secular our society grows, however, the more those with no hope glorify death as the strongest power over us. Perhaps embracing their fear somehow makes them feel stronger against it?

Thus, it is not surprising that for younger generations, who have largely stopped attending religious services of any kind, Halloween has surpassed Christmas and Easter in its importance to them. Facing their fear head-on is the greatest spiritual experience that they know.

In this morning's lesson, "Lower Than the Angels," we'll treat this as an evangelistic opportunity for those with hope to share Christ's power over death through His resurrection with those who have no hope—that there is no longer any reason to fear death. Yes, we are indeed powerless against death, we might tell them, but we are not left without power. Our power is that in our weakness we trust in the One who has conquered death and the grave. And He gives us hope.

It is no wonder, then, that those around us who don't know the hope of Jesus' resurrection would prefer to think of death as a pleasant sleep or a complete ceasing to exist—beliefs that are becoming increasingly popular in our secular world. At the very best they are wishing for a God-less heaven as they believe that only the worst of sins (murder, rape, etc.) or powerful, demonic circumstances (in which they are innocent victims) would drag them off to hell.

In my evening lesson from Psalm 13, "The Sleep of Death," I'll show these worldly fallacies to be hope without hope and how in the context that that was not at all what David meant by that phrase. Rather, Israel's shepherd-king understood that without his trust in God's steadfast love and intervention in his life, he would surely die.

Knowing that God has dealt bountifully with him, David has salvation and hope ... for when he would die!

CHURCH LIBRARY

Our church library has been reorganized and updated thanks to the efforts of Judy Kibble, Cinda Triplett, and Karen Kibble, as supervised by Terry Garner!

Over 500+ books are ready to be checked-out for your information and enjoyment. The "Reading Library" is now located by the Secretary's Office.

The former library room now houses Bibles, concordances, and reference books. Many thanks and appreciation to Terry and ladies for completing this momentous task. Please see Krista if you have any questions.

THANK YOU NOTES!!

I would like to thank everyone who sent me cards and wished me a happy birthday.

In Christian Love,
Fran Talbert

To Della and the church members, Wasco Inc. wants to thank you for your help and all your donations. You all are the BEST.

Donations are still needed of coats, hats, gloves, socks, boots and blankets for the winter months

Thanksgiving Extravaganza

*NEED TO SIGN UP BY TODAY ****

We need members to sign up to prepare a portion of the meal, and then members to help pack and deliver the food. Food will need to be dropped off at the building Nov 18 from 5-7PM or Nov 19 by 10AM. We will eat first at noon and then begin packing and delivering the meals after that. (The food that is prepared will need to be enough to fit in a larger aluminum buffet tray.)

Also, if you know of any families in need, please fill out a form from the table in the foyer and place it in the box. You will need to plan to deliver that meal to the family on Nov 19 also. If you would like to give a monetary donation towards the meal, please see Della Poling.

We are starting to collect toys/items to help out families at Christmas. Please place in room 2 before December 10. We will update the list as we go, but so far, here are the ages for the children.
